For 2018, Verbum Incarnatum will publish a special issue titled “300 Years of Social Justice in San Antonio.” In recognition of the tricentennial of the city that Verbum Incarnatum calls home, the journal invites submissions from all disciplines that discuss the progress toward greater social justice in San Antonio. This city boasts a rich and diverse cultural heritage, and Verbum Incarnatum seeks to highlight the aspects of its 300-year history that pertain to social justice, such as the C.O.P.S. demonstrations, the Good Government League, Las Hermanas, or the recent success of the city’s MLK Commission. Submissions should be a minimum of 12 pages double-spaced, should conform to the Chicago Manual of Style (17th edition), and should explicitly address social justice. Please include an abstract of 100-200 words. Please submit proposals by August 1, 2018.
